Infectious Diseases in Clinical Practice: Update on Inpatient and Outpatient Infectious Diseases

February 18-23, 2024 • Grand Hyatt Kauai • Kauai, Hawaii

Presented by the Department of Medicine, Division of Infectious Diseases at the University of California, San Francisco School of Medicine, this course reviews clinically relevant topics in infectious diseases that are commonly seen in the inpatient and outpatient setting and will include updates in COVID-19.

TARGET AUDIENCE

The course is designed to meet the needs of primary care physicians and providers, family physicians, general practitioners, hospitalists, internists, nurse practitioners, pediatricians, clinical pharmacists, and other health professionals who diagnosis, manage, or treat infectious diseases in the inpatient or outpatient settings.

OBJECTIVES

Upon completion of the activity an attendee will be able to:

- Apply knowledge and principles to diagnose, manage, and treat common infections encountered in clinical practice such as skin and soft tissue infections, intraabdominal infections, respiratory tract infections, urinary tract infections, gastrointestinal infections, bone and joint infections, endocarditis, staphylococcal infections; nosocomial infections, sexually-transmitted infections, and infections of the central nervous system;
- Incorporate into practice the diagnosis, management, treatment, and prevention of COVID-19 infection;
- Incorporate into practice the use of vaccines in adults and adolescents;
- Identify and manage less common infections such as infections in immunocompromised patients, mycobacterial infections, and infections associated with travel;
- Incorporate into practice the use of antimicrobial agents including an understanding of their efficacy and appropriate usage for prevention and treatment of bacterial, viral, and fungal infections;
- Apply basic principles of antimicrobial stewardship to everyday clinical practice in the inpatient and outpatient setting.

ACCREDITATION

In support of improving patient care, the University of California, San Francisco is jointly accredited by the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education (ACCME), the Accreditation Council for Pharmacy Education (ACPE), and the American Nurses Credentialing Center (ANCC), to provide continuing education for the healthcare team.
